TO SUCCEED PARNELL

Martin Flavin, McCarthylte, Elected by 1,512 Cont. Nov. 7 .- Mr. Martin Flavin, the Mc Carthyite candidate for the seat in parliament for Cork city left vacant by the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, has been elected by a plurality of 1,512 votes over the Parnellite candidate.

Mr. John E. Redmond. The result of the count is as follows: Flavin (McCarthyite).....

could do to keep order.

The police of freiend, England and Scotland have received information as to a probable influx into Great Britain of members of the Irish "party of action" in members of the Irish "party of action" in merica. It is said that American detective in the employ of British point authorities are stationed at Queenstown and elsewhere with instructions to carefully watch every incoming Atlantic steamship from American ports. In addition the police force has been increased at every port in Ireland and the promitest Partallities are being steadily the prominent Pernellites are being steadily shadowed In a word, a revival of fenian op-Mesers. Mesers. McCarthy and Sexton have issued a statement to the effect that the assurances put in writing in January by liberal leaders concerning the central of the police in Ireland and the land question were communicated at a meeting of the Irish parliament party a few days later as the public declarations of the liberal policy. These appeared in the newspapers and nothing has since been added to them. The assertion that secrecy was observed in the matter is entirely unfounded. M'CARTRYITES REJOICING.

The McCarthyites are rejoicing over the result of the election and the Parnellites are sullen, but apparently not despondent. Appearances indicate that the defeated faction intends to make Cork lively tonight if there intends to make Cork lively tonight if there are any bands or bondres. The Parnellites declare that they will not give up the fight, but clare that they will not give up the fight, but will continue to contest the constituencies in which they have any reasonable number of supporters. It is said that Redmond may oppose the seating of Flavin, on the ground of undue clerical interferance. The Parnellites threatened to take this ground after both the Kilkenny and Sligo elections, but Parnell himself concluded against the proposal, as he wished to avoid, he said, bringing the religious issue into parliament. Redmond, however, has no such scruple, and, as he is made desperate by defeat, there is little doubt that he will take the step indicated. This would be highly pleasing to the tories, by enabling them to publish broadcast the testimony of clerical influence and intimidation. There is also little doubt that Flavin would be unseated and the doubt that Flavin would be unseated and the spectacle of the Cork contest again presented for the edification of Great Britain.

THE BOULOGNE CONFERENCE. Laxnox, Nov. 7 .- Mr. Gladstone has written letter for publication in reference to the statement of the chancellor of the exchanger. the Rt. Hon. George Goschen, in which the latter is credited with saying that Mr. Gladstone negociated with both of the rival Irish parties at Boulogne. In this letter Mr. Gladstone says:

"What Mr. Goschen says he understands had no more to do munications with him. The communications were made for publicity and not for secrecy.

"On the police question I said what Mr. Morley said, that I regard the care of the police as the proper business of the local government in Ireland, London and everywhere else.

BENNING RACE TRACE. Nov. 7.—This is by ong odds the best day of the meeting at Benning. Not only is the weather pretty, but the program is excellent and the field in each event large and evenly matched. including that old Washington favorite, Dunboyne.

The largest crowd of the meeting is present and the grand stand is comfortably filled with ladies. In the first race Experience and Lost Star have been scratched and Busteed will not start in the second nor George W. in the third. The event of the day is the handicap, one and one-quarter miles, and Senorita and Strathmenth are looked for to fight for the $500 purse which has been offered.

A hurdle race, one mile and three-quarters, over six hurdles, is the last event on the card, and there is a field of six good ones entered. The jockeys and betting in the first race are as follows:

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market still elt the effects of the hamme afternoon this morning and first prices as a rule were small fractions lower than those of last evening, while Jessey rule were small fractions lower than those of last evening, while Jessey Central was exceptional, with a loss of 1½ per cent at 112. The market remained very feverish and irregular throughout the greater portion of the heur, but prices except in Chesapeake and Ohio first preferred, which dropped i to 53½, and in Jersey Central, which recovered a large fraction. A stronger tone prevailed in the late dealings and prices were generally placed upon a higher level than that of the opening. Special activity was seen in St. Paul, Reading, Atchison, Eric and Lackawanna, with a well-distributed business in most of the active list. Confidence Being Rapidly Regained Through out Brazil. RIO JANERIO, Nov. 7. - All is quiet here today and the state of siege is not rigorously enforced. Business is proceeding as usual. Similar reports are received from the provinces. President Fonseca's illness alone constitutes a source of danger.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The correspondent of the Times at Santiago telegraphs that paper that the army, navy and people of Brazil are all in favor of President Fonseca. The new Brazilian legislative chambers will, he adds, meet in April. Confidence is rapidly reviving throughout the country. April. Confidence is rapidly reviving through-out the country.

New York, Nev. 7.—The Heraid's Valparaino dispatches say that the news was received yesterday from Rio de Janeiro that President Fonseca had held a long conference with two prominent imperialists. This has given rise to a rumor that Dom Pedro will be requested to return to Brazil and take the throne. In case of his declining the offer, the story goes that the throne will be offered to the Conde D'Eu, the husband of Dom Pedro's daughter. These stories are merely rumors, however. Controller Lacey on the Boston Benks.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Controller Lacey said this morning concerning a published report from Washington purporting to be information obtained at the controller's office that he knows nothing whatever concerning any national bank in Boston being in any trouble. Mr. Lacey feels sure that he would be informed if such were the case. Mr. Lacey thinks that the correspondent must have misapprehended possibly some information concerning some interior banks having balances with the Maverick, which might be temporarily embarrassed by the necessary delay, although he knows of none such so situated.

Money on call has been easy, ranging from 4 to 5, last loan at 4 and closing offered at 4. Bar silver, 94%. Prime mercantile paper, owing to the flurry in Boston, is in no desmand at present, but the supply is not pressing and rates are practically unchanged, with sixty to ninety days' indersed bills receive-ble at 5a5%; four months acceptances at 55% and and good single names with from four to six months to run at 6a6%. Sterling exchange is quiet and steady to firm, with actual business in bunkers' bills at 4.80% for sixty days and 4.83% for demand. Posted rates, 4.81 and 4.83% Commercial bills, 4.70% and 4.88. The official report of the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company to the stock exchange shows: Silver bullion on hand, 4.042,025 offices; deposited, 45,968 ounces; withdrawn, 61,978 sunces; certificates outstanding, 4.040. bance of bank reserves in western Europe likely to arise from the remittance to Russia of the proceeds of the recent loan negotiated in Paris. Under these circumstances the great banks of Europe are likely to clutch their gold with special tenacity—a condition of things anything but conducive to confidence in securities and especially those of the speculative class. So far these facts and prospects have had no effect upon American securities in the foreign markets. Taking the foreign situation as a whole, however, it is more suggestive of future trouble than of support to this market, and this is a factor which encourages the hesitancy now evident among our leading operators.

Among the domestic factors which are at the moment acting unfavorably on the market noment acting unfavorably on the market are the comparatively numerous new issues of bonds for improvement purposes and for equipment, which, while their object may be entirely justifiable, yet carry an unfavorable implication as to the financial condition of the companies issuing them—it having been the usage, with well-to-do companies, to provide for such requirements out of surplus earnings.

In view of the various factors above referred to, coming as they do upon a market which has been boomed up to an advance averaging eleven points on the active stocks, it is not surprising that there should be a disposition that and allow these influences to have the ef fect to which their weight entitles them. No doubt that effect would have come ere this had it not been for the extraordinary influences that have operated in the opposite direction. A more legitimate and positive "bull" argu-ment could not exist than the unprecedented magnitude of our crops, the fair prices they are destined to realize, the overwhelming railroad traffic which they must create and the general national prosperity they must produce. The striking change in the course of our foreign commerce, due to this cause, is a very important factor in favor of the market and will be felt later on. Our imports for September—owing to the large supplies im-ported in that month of 1890 in anticipation of the new tariff—show a decrease of $14,400,000 the new tariff—show a decrease of $14,400,000 compared with last year, while in consequence of the shipments from the new crops the exports show an increase of $14,000,000. This is the beginning of a course of the foreign exchanges which is destined to continue to bring gold to New York and create an ease in money which can hardly fail to produce favorable results in stock overhoose values lets as Far the sults in stock exchange values later on. For the noment, however, the attitude of waiting befits the market, and speculators must be satisfied with the profits that come from daily quick

THE SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT.

MILLS, CRIEF AND MCHILLIN BELIEVED TO BE THE LEAD-WHAT IS CLAIMED BY THE PRIENDS OF EACH—GOSSIP ABOUT THE MINOR OFFICES OF

In about a week or ten days the speakership campaign will be transferred to Washington.

The candidates will open their headquarters come to Washington unpledged, though a majority of them have expressed their preferences in one way or another. Therefore it is an open fight yet. It is expected that two or three of the candidates will be practically out of the fight at the start, preferences in one way or another. There-fore it is an open fight yet. It is expected that two or three of the candidates will be practically out of the fight at the start, but there will be a stubborn contest between at least three of them until the caucus is held. at least three of them until the caucus is held. There has been some talk of a protracted contest in the caucus, but that does not seem probable. The caucus will probably be held the Saturday before Congress convenes and a very few ballots will be apt to settle the speakership question. The candidates generally express great confidence in their own strength and in the weakness of "the other fellow'a." At one time it looked as if there might be considerable bit. weakness of "the other fellows." At one time it looked as if there might be considerable bitterness in the contest, but the unwisdom of such a course seems to have bebome apparent to those, who were disposed to make the campaign one of attack rather than argument, and now the contest promises to be one of calculation and reason, with a strong element of enthusiand LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

All the leaders of the party which will be in Pvt. Rawles power in the next House, which, of course, in- Lieut. Stewart. power in the next Home, which, of course, includes all the candidates, are looking to the future, and the result, it is asserted, will be decided according to what appears to be the best interests of the party without much regard to personal friendships. The party service of a candidate, it is said, will count only as an indication of the qualifications of the man, though all the candidates have claim for consideration on account of their work.

There has been an active contention for the Sergt. Landwoight. There has been an active contention for the eastern vote and it is somewhat remarkable that several of the candidates seem to be perfectly confident of getting it. However, there is always the danger before a candidate in working that field that he may sacrifice his support in the west in trying to win the votes support in the vest in trying to win the votes of New York, New England and Pennsylvania, and the party will be very fortunate if it escapes the drawing of sectional lines. capes the drawing of sectional lines.

A conservative course, according to the wisdom and judgment of the successful man, may be expected from whatever candidate is elected, but there is the danger that enthusiasts who want certain things done may insist upon pledges before hand, which will be apt to prove fatal to their cause. It will require a great deal of skill and judgment on the part of the Speaker elected to keep the party out of trouble, especially as there will probably be a great deal of outside influence brought to bear to determine the choice.

THE THREE PRINCIPAL CANDIDATES. Apparently the struggle for the lead on the start will be between Mr. Crisp and Mr. Mills, start will be between Mr. Crisp and Mr. Mills, with Mr. McMillin as a close third. Mr. McMillin, it is claimed, will draw chiefly from Mr. Mills and the longer he stays in the fight, if it appears probable that he is not going to win, the more injury will be done the Texan. Mr. Mills' supporters will probably be moved largely by enthusiasm growing out of their admiration of the courage and intellectual capacity of the man, and they will probably stand by him well. His friends claim that he has a sure thing of it; that no one can defeat him. This confidence is said to be based upon the belief that he has won the support of the east by his declaration of principles, which must control and the won the support of the east by his declaration of principles, which must control and the policy which must be followed in the coming Congress. The chief argument advanced against him by his opponents is that he may not have the calmness and judgment which is felt to be necessary in the premiuration and control of the next House.

It is claimed that from the first he has had

It is claimed that from the first he has had a large following in the south and east, which has been influenced to his support solely by the consideration of his fitness for the place, and that he is strong enough in the west, especially among the old members. MR. M'MULLIN'S CEANCES. In the estimation of his opponents Mr. Mc-Millin, while not in the bad, is a formidable millin, while not in the lead, is a formidable rival in the field. Many of the Crisp men think that the fight will really be between him and Crisp when it comes to the final stringle. Mr. McMillin is a sanguing and an earnest fighter, who has a happy faculty of making but few enemies in the course of such a contest; and it is thought that this may figure to his advantage if the contest is protracted.

SPRINGER, MATCH AND BYNUM. Nobody seems to be able to estimate the rela tive strength of Mr. Springer. He has been tive strength of Mr. Springer. He has been making an active campaign and his long congressional experience is greatly in his favor in making a canvass. He will probably hold a considerable western yote, and he has recently been visiting the east, with the view of strengthening his line there.

There is a similar uncertainty as to the strength of Bynum and Hatch. Bynum is said to have made a very favorable impression on his recent tour through the northwest in the work of organizing democratic clubs. On the stunp he is one of the best campaigners the democrats have. THE MINOR OFFICERS.

The selection of the minor officers of the House will depend to a greater or less extent House will depend to a greater or less extent upon the selection of the Speaker, and therefore their canvass is more in doubt than that of the speakership candidates.

As far as is known ex-Representative Yoder of Ohio is the only candidate for the position of sergeant-at-arms, and it is believed to be too late for any other to enter the field with the hope of winning.

Gen. Clarke of Missouri, who was formerly the democratic clerk, ex-Representative Kerr of Pennsylvania and ex Representative Gibson of Maryland are the candidates spoken of for the clerkship.

Though no one appears to know for certain that he wants the place, it is said that ex-Postmaster Dalton can have his old place back. He is also mentioned in connection with the clerkship.

The beginning of the letter from Officer Wells is dated August 13, and begins: "My last letter to you was from Couquimbo. The day it was mailed we received word that the insurgents had landed near Valparaiso." The extract shows conclusively that the Baltimore, so far from being alongside the Champion the day of the Quinteros landing, as asserted by the English officers, was not at Valparaiso or near Quinterosat all, but at Couquimbo. The Baltimore, Mr. Wells says, did not leave Couquimbo until after midnight and news of the landing had reached him at breakfast. It was not until sunset of the following evening that the Baltimore came to anchor in Valparaiso harbor, the first thing attracting attention being the insurgent war ships Abtao and Magellan with flags flying at all their masts in celebration of the insurgent success in the first day's fight.

The letter describes the exciting scenes attending the fall of Valparaiso, the taking of refugees, including wounded officers and women and children, aboard the Baltimore, and the practical accession of the junta to power, adding prophetically: "We will not be in good favor here; that may be taken for granted. After capturing the Itata and cutting the cable to Iquique our chances for bare politeness are slim."
